No man need keep telling you he's honest. Neither does a lady have to proclaim it to the crowds—the folks know it any way.

The rain has come over much of this country, but that near Dothan has not been treated to the rain that surely comes when people pay their preachers.

If a man could wear a mechanical contrivance that would stick a pin in him every time he had a mean thought or committed an evil deed, most of us would look like a Swiss cheese in a week. I simply wouldn't wear it.—J. S. Bonner.

Today's News Today.

Jackson Daily News.

When you read The Daily News this afternoon you are reading the news that happened today.

You also get, of course, all that has happened since the previous issue of the paper, but, most of all, you can get the latest occurrences, both at home and abroad.

The morning paper is literally a 24-hour edition. Between that hour and the time of publication of the Daily News more than 12 hours have elapsed.

In that time events have occurred, and are daily transpiring, which are changing the course of the world's history. Owing to the difference in time, people in Europe are up and doing, armies are battling, diplomats are engaged in parleying and huge ocean liners are being torpedoed, while the morning paper employs are at home asleep. All that happens you will find in the afternoon newspaper, in the Daily News, if you please—on the day it happens.

So it is with the advertisements. A woman plans her shopping campaign at night, and she reads the afternoon news paper to see what bargains will be within her reach on the following morning. She does not wait for the morning paper to come before deciding whether she will visit the stores. It is then too late, and her sisters, who read the afternoon paper and got the tip, have already beaten her to the bargain counter.

If you want to get today's news today, there is only one course to pursue—buy today's paper today. Don't wait until tomorrow to read what happened today.

The Editor.

Read carefully and well this poem. Tom Thompson in the Howard Courant:

"Consider the editor. He weareth purple and fine linen. His abode is amongst the mansions of the rich. His wife hath her limousine and his first-born sporteth in a racing car that can lift her up in forty flat.

"And all the people break their necks to hand him money. A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth ten golden phunks. The editor writh a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. And the proud father giveth him a eremo.

"Behold the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman, and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is shaven up to bent the band. And the dress-maker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor getteth a not of thanks from the S. G. C.

"The daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column, solid. And the fair one remembereth him from after with a picture postal card that costeth six for a jenny.

"Behold, she returneth and the youth of the city fall down and worship. She nicketh one and lay, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast and behold, the bids are fashioned by Muntgumery Hawbuck, in a far city.

"Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve month subscription.

"All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered into the sile. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head, and the darned thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place."

"And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pull out their ads and cancel their subscription and they swing the hammer unto the third and fourth generations.

"Canst thou beat it?"

An eight-hour day isn't much of a help to the man who is handy around the house.

THE BUNGALOW.

(K. Lumby's Harpoon.)

Oh, I'd like to have (now, wouldn't I?)

Little bungalow for two,

With a bit of shade above the eave,

Where I could hear the laugh of the leaves;

And somewhere near a plot of ground,

Where I could go and loiter round,

And feel as free as a vagrant gnat,

And dig—if I happened to want to dig!

And watch the flowers smile up at me,

And jest with passing bird or bee;

And have her come (for she'd be there!)

With sunlight glinting upon her hair.

(And dimples playing at hide-and-seek—)

Rose and snow upon her cheek!

And have her whisper, low and sweet,

"Dear, don't you think that it's time to eat?"

Oh, I'm going to have (should she not say "no")

Just such a little bungalow!

—Clinton Scotland, in Judge.

THE ANSWER.

(In which the writer substitutes Truth for Poetry.)

I'll say "yes" dear, so you may go,

And rent a second-hand bungalow,

And please insist that the plot of ground

Has posts and wires strong around,

With a strong wash-board—and a brand new tub—

Where I can rub—for I'll have to rub—

While you sit smiling beneath the trees

I'll be dodging the bugs and the humble-bees,

And wringing the clothes from out the tub.

Earning the money to buy the grub.

Later on we'll have dogs and cats—

And maybe a dozen red-headed brats—

Which clinches the proof of the metaphor

Expressed by Sherman concerning war.

And then each morning at half past 4,

As I do a Marathon to open the door,

I'll explain as I stand in the cheerful frost,

That the keyhole really has not been lost—

That the modern look, with its turns and crooks

Won't yield to matches and button hooks.

I'll earn the living, and buy the clothes—

Do the cooking and mend the hose—

While you can drink, and smoke, and cheat—

And live as gentlemen usually do.

Envy—

Thus together as man and wife, We'll spend the average married life—

But as half my earnings to land-lord's go,

For God sake rent the bungio low.

—J. S. Bonner.

CHARACTER—Personality. When you meet a man you instinctively catalog him—decide for yourself just what kind of a man he is and whether or not you're going to like him.

If he's wishy-washy, or overbearing, or bitter, or loud, or effeminate, or dull, or uninteresting, you're through, right there.

It is character that decides you. Beverages have character. Some can't outlast a single meeting.

Others are wishy-washy, effeminate and uninteresting. You forget them—quickly.

Others are overbearing—too decided in flavor or effect. You avoid them.

Dependability—versus—Ingenuous Claims

MORE than 75 Concerns now manufacture Tires.

We believe that everyone of these makes as good Tires as he knows how, at the lowest cost his Experience, Equipment and Methods make possible.

We believe that the average Tire Manufacturer is fair in his treatment of Adjustments, and that few deliberately misrepresent their product, either verbally or in print.

We believe that no Tire Manufacturer can afford to make statements in print about his product, which statements cannot be borne out by the performance of his Tires, in actual use.

We believe that the Tire has never been made which will not "Rim-Cut" if run "flat" for any considerable distance, and that many makers, including ourselves, have always produced Tires that would not otherwise "Rim-Cut."

We believe that many more Tires "Break-at-the-Head" than Cut at the Rim.

We believe that the Rubber Riveting System of attaching the Tread to the Carcass (by means of a loosely woven fabric, which permits the raw Rubber to percolate through its meshes and then vulcanize to Carcass and Tread) prevents, to a large extent, Tread Separation.

We have long used this in "Goodrich" Tires, as a commonplace part of our Precision policy, but without laying any particular stress upon it.

We believe that the "Double-Cure" process, common with a great many Tire Manufacturers under different names, adds unnecessary expense to Tire Cost, which expense the Methods of the Goodrich Factory eliminate through its Precision "Single-Cure."

We believe that the cutting out of needless expenses like this (which our Precision Methods save) constitutes one of the strongest reasons why the largest Rubber Factory in the World (ours) produces the greatest Mileage—per Dollar of Cost—in its Tires.

And—

"The PROOF of the Tire is in the Mileage thereof."

We believe that the House which sticks to the Truth in its Advertising, is reasonably sure to stick to the Facts in its Selling.

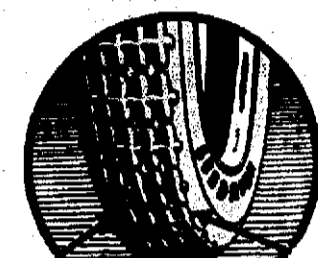

You have never yet found anything in Goodrich Advertising which was not in the Goods it advertised.

Hence you may pin your faith to the following statement:

—Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires give, with most UNIFORMITY, the greatest MILEAGE, and Resiliency, at the fairest cost, per MILE, to Tire Users.

Test them and see!

CROPS TO FOLLOW OATS

Cowpeas, Soy Beans and Other Legumes Preferred.

By J. F. Dugger, Director, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

As a rule, soil improvement crops are most advisable. Among these, first place is usually given to cowpeas. Late or Mammoth soy beans may also be drilled in promptly after oats, and cultivated for seed or hay.

Spanish peanuts may still be planted. But with both soy beans and peanuts there is greater danger of getting a stand after oats than on less open land.

Only if the land is very rich should corn follow oats, and then usually with peas in every other row, or in the middle.

There is still time for sweet potatoes, but on oat stubble the stand is often poor.

Sorghum may be planted, then castor or sweet potatoes, but it impoverishes the soil.

BEST VARIETIES OF COWPEAS

Some of the Best Varieties for Seed and Hay and for Disease Resistance.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Speckled Peas—This most widely known variety of cowpea is probably Speckled pea, called by some Whitepod or "Shiny." It has small vines and usually produces a good crop of seed. The pods do not burst open as soon as they are ripe and drop the bean on the ground. Harvesting may be delayed some time after the pods ripen.

If this variety is planted for hay it should be mowed at the rate of one and a quarter bushels to two bushels per acre. The crowding of the plants forces the vines to grow more nearly upright, makes the mowing easier and increases the yield of hay.

Iron—The Iron variety makes a good yield of hay and a fair yield of seed. In growth the plants are intermediate between the bush and the running varieties. Its seed are rather small and when not weathered, light yellow in color. Its pods do not burst open as soon as they are ripe, therefore a delay of several weeks in their harvest does not cause a material loss in the quantity of seed. Land infected with either cowpea or cotton-wilt should be planted with Iron or Brahman cowpeas. The Iron variety is very subject to mildew on the leaves, but resistant to wilt and root-knot.

Brahman—The Brahman is a new variety, resistant to wilt and root-knot. It somewhat resembles the Iron in growth and the Speckled in appearance of its smaller seeds. For seed production it stands high, and for hay medium.

New Era—The New Era is a very early lunch variety. The peas are small. Nearly round, and of a mottled, dark appearance. Two crops of New Era peas may be grown in one season in the central part of the cotton belt. It is one of the most productive of seed of the very early varieties.

Groft—This is a new, productive variety, very much like the New Era.

California Black-Eye—This variety is early and produces white, rather large pods, with black eyes, that sell at the highest price. It is extensively grown for table use, and, like most table varieties, it is less productive of seed or vines than the Speckled, New Era or Brahman.

SENTIMENT AGAINST LIQUOR. In England, as in other warring countries, there is a very rapidly growing sentiment against the drink traffic. Mrs. Parker, sister of Earl Kitchener, declares that between 20 and 40 per cent of the new soldiers are being rendered inefficient through drink and attendant evils, and she states that the prime minister admits the percentage to be from 10 to 15. Mrs. Parker says, "Russia has done away with intoxicants. Why not Britain?"

PANAMA CANAL DRY.

Under an order signed by the governor of the Panama Canal zone, Col. George W. Goethals, all canal transportation employees are forbidden to use liquor. This includes pilots taking ships through the canal, captains of tugboats, mates and others.

THE SAME IN EVERY CITY.

The Associated Charity of Columbus, O., says the organization gave aid to one in every forty people in the city last year. It gives $150,000 for the necessity of such assistance, and interperence hampers the list.

LIQUOR IS BARRED.

The contest board of the American Automobile association now prohibits not only the use of liquor by drivers, mechanics and officials of races, but refuses to sanction any race at which liquor is sold on the grounds.

RELIGIOUS REALM

CHURCHES and SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The pastor, Rev. E. H. Jennings, will preach in the morning at 11:00 and in the evening at 8:00 as usual.

At the evening service the series of sermons on Roman Catholicism will be continued, the special subject being, "Some superstitions of the Roman Catholic church."

A large congregation heard the pastor last Sunday evening on "Romanism and the Bible." The object of these sermons is to inform the people about the religion of Romanism and its political and moral ideals. Whether these messages are timely there is no doubt to be difference of opinion because the average Protestant knows so little about the aspirations of Rome in this country. No unkindness is intended against Roman Catholics themselves—it is not a personal matter—but the effort is made to show what Romanism really is when it has power, leaving the people to judge whether this is the thing we need.

Sunday School meets at 9:40. B. Y. P. U. at 7:15.

Strangers and visitors are cordially welcomed to all the services of this church.

RUB-MY-TISM

Will cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headaches, Cramps, Colic, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Old Sores, Tetter, Ring Worm, Eczema, etc. Antiseptic Anodyne, and instantly or ultimately cures.

The Pastor will preach at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Bible School will meet promptly at 9:30. Every teacher is requested to be in his place by 9:30. Classes arranged to suit the needs of all.

The preaching service will be followed by the celebration of the Lord's Supper. It is a duty that you owe to yourself and to God to be present.

B. Y. P. U. are requested to be very prompt in meeting, so that the preaching service may begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

Visitors and strangers are cordially invited to worship with us, and a hearty welcome awaits your coming. Our services are planned to meet the needs of men in every walk of life. Let God have the right of way in your life and trust Him for guidance under all circumstances. W. H. Tew, Pastor.

L. L. Brackin, and wife of F. Mead, Fla., arrived in Dothan this morning on the early Coast Line train. Mr. Brackin, who has been in Florida for nearly two years likes the locality alright, but he has been bothered with rheumatism, and will stay here for a few months before he thinks he may be relieved of his trouble. His place is located about 60 miles southeast of Tampa.
